DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
 - I. Claims 1-11, 22-30, 31-36 and 37, drawn to an apparatus for heating and starting a fuel cell/stack, classified in class 429, subclass 12.
 - II. Claims 12-21, drawn to a method for heating a fuel cell, classified in class 429 subclass 13.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

2. Inventions I and II are related as process and apparatus for its practice. The inventions are distinct if it can be shown that either: (1) the process as claimed can be practiced by another and materially different apparatus or by hand, or (2) the apparatus as claimed can be used to practice another and materially different process. (MPEP § 806.05(e)). In this case, the process as claimed can be practiced by another and materials different apparatus, such as by a flame or a preheater.
3. Because these inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art in view of their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.
4. Because these inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and the inventions require a different field of search (see MPEP § 808.02), restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Art Unit: 1745

5. If Invention I is selected, an election of species is required. This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species:

Ia. claims 1-11, drawn to a resistive conductor attached to a source of electricity; a current control component that modifies the amount of electrical current flowing in the resistive conductor; and an insulating material surrounding the fuel cell and the resistive conductor.

Ib. claim 31-36, drawn to a smart controller; a resistive heating circuit positioned in substantial proximity with the one fuel cell; and at least one of a switch, a variable resistor, a variable transformer and a pulse width modulation scheme operated by the smart controller.

Ic. claim 37, drawn to a means for coupling a resistive conductor positioned in proximity with at least one fuel cell to a source of electricity; means for surrounding the cell and the resistive conductor with an insulating material; and means for modifying the amount of electrical current in the resistive conductor to maintain a target operating temperature of the at least one fuel cell.

The species are independent or distinct because each species is directed toward distinct and independent mechanical means.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, claim 22 is generic.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Art Unit: 1745

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of an allowable generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

6. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C.103(a) of the other invention.
